Buy a Gift Each Day.

The wise who begin their Christmas shopping early and buy a gift each time down town will > -have first pick of select gifts, many not to be found later. -have opportunity to shop, compare, and be sure of good value. -find it easier to make unhurried choice of suitable presents. -avoid crowds, confusion, mistakes and disappointment.

They will also help make it easier for those who strive to serve in store, office and delivery department

Our plan began months ago. Already this store is blossoming in section after section with varied groupings of bright, new merchandise. Each day sees some definite further step in the transforming of the whole store to a veritable treasure house of Christmas happiness for the world's greatest holiday.

Come-We Will Welcome You.

Quite naturally I feel that there is no coffee so good as that which was on the market forty years ago. My mother always used "Javanmoker." When I was sent to the store I always asked for

"One pound of Javanmoker, please, un-ground." Never, never would our fam-

Was it not a part of the joy of life to be wakened in the morning by the sound of the grinder presaging the coming aroma? I have often wondered what it was that the grocer put with mother's Java, for they say there has been no Moche for they say there has been no Mocha coffee for many years. Mother, however, paid a little higher price for her coffee, and thought it much improved in flavor by the addition of Mocha.

Years ago I gained quite a reputation as a maker of good coffee, "if I do say it as shouldn't." I made it with great care. Some of my friends used to scoff at me about my painstaking efforts; but I notice they drank my coffee with gusto. We were a family of three. Into a bowl I broke an egg, carefully putting away half of it for the next morning. To the half egg, beaten, I added five rounding tablespoonfuls of good Java coffee, mixing thoroughly. Then I put two cups of cold water into the pot, not percolator, and added the coffee-and-egg mixture, leaving it on the stove until it came to a hard boil. Immediately, I put in two leaving it on the stove until it came to a hard boil. Immediately, I put in two cups of boiling water, and lef it boil up once more. I also added a little pinch of salt. Why? I know not. This should make four cups of coffee: one extra cup in case some member of the family decides to transgress and drink two cups.

The rule really is "a tablespoonful of coffee for each cup and one for the pot." It is absolutely necessary that the coffee pot should be thoroughly cleansed each morning—and this is not an easy task where egg is used. This method does not produce boiled coffee, but coffee twice brought to the boiling point. If allowed to settle a few minutes it will be as clear as amber.

Boiling drives off that delightful aroms, which is really what we enjoy most in our cup of coffee.

Don't Forget the Birds at Christmas.

When you are planning what to give for Christmas, there is one thing that I want you not to forget, and that is to feed the birds. At this time in the year the ground is generally covered with snow, the grasses and seeds on the weeds that grow along the roadside are all covered up, and the little birds have a hard time finding anything to eat, and a good many of them almost starve to death.

ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON.

DISTRICT OF MAINE, as.

On this 6th day of December, A. D. 1924, on reading the foregoing petition, it is—Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 16th day of Jan., A. D. 1925, before said court at Portland, in said District, at ten o'clock in the forencon; and that motica thereof be published in The Oxford Democrat, a newsaper printed in said District, and that that all known creditors, and other persons in interest, may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be graused.

And it is further Ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, and the seal thereof, at Portland, in said District, on the 6th day of Dec., and the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Portland, in said District, on the 6th day of Dec., A. Don't you think it would be fine to have a Christmas tree for the birds?

You can select one of the trees in your own yard, or a small evergraph tree in Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge.

In the matter of JACK LEHTO, In Bankruptcy own yard, or a small evergreen tree in the meadow, or on the hillside. Take a basket filled with things that birds like to eat, and tie these things on the tree with pieces of red and green string. The butcher will give you some suet that can be cut in small pieces—the birds love suet. There can be pieces of apple, cake, bread, and some celery tops tied on the tree, while on the snow under the tree can be scattered all sorts of grain, oatmeal and other cereals that our little feathered friends find to their liking. Tie a few pieces of sugar oandy or bonbons to the top branches, and you will be delighted to watch the pretty birds fly to the sweets and peck at them, as they flutter about their delicious Christmas gift from the children. Even if you don't have a Christmas tree yourself, you can have one for the birds.

In the matter of JACK LEHTO, In Bankruptcy and the Mankrupt, JACK LEHTO of Paris, in the District fourt of the United States for the District Court of Maine:

JACK LEHTO of Paris, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 17th day of May, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress, relating to Bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and has fully compiled with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of Court touching his bankruptcy. Wherefore he prays, That he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupty Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.
